“It’s about the Dream” Seth and Catherine Afeku of Axim left Africa 10 years ago to provide a future of opportunity for their families. Educated in Europe and the United States and as founding partners of Cybernautix they are bringing the world to Africa.

The focus of technology is the way they feel they can best contribute to the future development of Ghana and enrichment to the lives of digital Africans. This is only the beginning. Founded to provide a gateway to the world of technology they decided to start an Internet business center in Garden City, Kumasi.
