September/October 2003 issue:

PI Magazine is proud to feature as our cover story one very special woman who started her investigative career 33 years ago. Kitty Hailey's dedication to our profession has been nationally recognized by her peers and by many associations. Her two latest books have become major sellers amongst professional investigators. It's our honor to introduce her to our readers and to many of our new colleagues.

If you aren't subscribing to PI Magazine, you're missing some of the most important educational articles being written for the professional investigator!
